DOH-PINELLAS HIGHLIGHTS

- In June 2022, the first monkeypox case was reported in Pinellas. DOH-Pinellas continued to work with partners to provide education and vaccines—while the agency was still dealing with the COVID-19 pandemic and a meningococcal disease outbreak in the state.
- DOH-Pinellas continued its health services at clinics funded by the Juvenile Welfare Board in five high schools. The clinics provide services to students in underserved areas and are used for Back to School events for the community during months when schools are not in session.
- With DOH funding, the Health Equity Team organized a community health event to increase minority health access. The focus was on bringing families to the Sanderlin Center for education, fun, food and screenings. Other community partners also took part.
- Breastfeeding peer counselors in the WIC division switched to online education sessions to reach more clients during COVID-19. Counselors presented sessions in English and Spanish at times convenient to families.
- Through its Mobile Medical Unit and Street Medicine Team, DOH-Pinellas provided care to persons experiencing homelessness. Both are part of the Pinellas County Healthcare for the Homeless initiative and are staffed by DOH-Pinellas professionals. These initiatives take quality care outside the physical clinics to provide more responsive care.
- As an integrated health system, DOH achieved a five-year certification from the Public Health Accreditation Board (PHAB), a national organization that advances performance improvement, quality services and innovation. DOH-Pinellas was one of only a few agencies among Florida's 67 county health departments that received virtual site visits by PHAB.
